The Professional Member makes these commitments to the Institute:

1. That s/he will keep reasonable records of his/her work with the Institute's tools and technologies and periodically transmit copies of the records and an evaluation to the Institute.
2. That s/he will submit to the Institute for approval prior to publication any material s/he may write regarding his/her work with the Institute methods. The purpose of this commitment is not for censure but to insure accuracy in content. Therefore, approval cannot be unreasonably withheld.
3. That s/he will not reproduce or duplicate any Institute program, recorded exercise, or training material obtained by him/her from or through the Institute, or permit any other person to do so.
4. That s/he will utilize Institute program or training material only in the manner stated in his/her membership application unless s/he receives written approval to do otherwise. Such material will be employed only by him/her or by a person or persons trained by him/her and under his/her direct supervision.
5. That s/he will keep control of such material to preserve its integrity and to prevent unauthorized use of it by others.
6. That s/he will permit the Institute to disseminate any reports s/he may make regarding his/her work, unless s/he specifically requests confidentiality. In the latter event, his/her reports will remain strictly a part of the Institute data and remain in the Institute archives.
7. That s/he will protect the Institute copyrights and trademarks and will abide by the policies set for by the Institute which have an impact on his/her professional utilization of the Institute's tools and technologies.

I hereby make application for the Professional Division Membership in The Monroe Institute. I do understand that such materials, methods, and techniques are experimental in nature, and I take sole responsibility for my use and application of them. I therefore release the Institute from any and all liability in connection with said use by me or by those under my direction.

I have read, understand and agree to the above commitments.
